FOURTEEN PROJECTS HAVE BEEN PROPOSED TO GIVE MEN WORK

PLANS FOR WINTER MONTHS
ARE DISCUSSED BY COUNTY
COMMISSIONERS COURT

Fourteen projects of improvement of roads and streets, including one sewer ditch excavation and a straightening out project for Chambers creek, were outlined in an informal discussion at the Navarro county commissioners court Thursday.

Only one of the projects, the graveling of the streets in Dawson, has been approved. Efforts are being made to procure approval on the others, including one project from the Dickens farm to the Emhouse lateral road which was brought up Thursday.

Commissioner J. O. Sessions of the Kerens precinct was not present at Thursday's meeting of the court and no report of contemplated projects in his precinct was made, although it is understood that he contemplates the graveling of several roads in the eastern sector of the county. There are probably projects in Kerens, but those are brought directly through the city administration and does not come through the commissioners court.

In some instances, community tools, teams and gravel are being furnished and the unemployment bureau furnishes the labor.

The following projects have been proposed:

1. Graveling of 4.4 miles from Pizag Ridge to Richland. Jesse Baldwin is furnishing the gravel from his pit for this project.
2. A sandy road from Winkler to the county line near Streetman, a distance of four miles.
3. A road from Wilson school to Bazette.
4. Graveling of a road from the Dickens farm to the Emhouse lateral, a distance of 11.2 miles. It was stated by Nick Parrish of a house that a gravel pit was available and that residents along the road in the White's Chapel community and teams. This project will likely be started soon and the necessary requests and papers filled out.
5. A road 4.2 miles from Emhouse west toward the Cryer creek community, to be of gravel.

Counterfeiting Plant and Money Taken In Raid

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(P)—A half million dollars in counterfeit money and a complete counterfeiting plant were seized last night in a raid on United States secret service men on a cottage on Chicago's northwest side.

The raid resulted from the arrest two weeks ago of William E. Davis, 55, a reputed Capone henchman, in whose automobile the bogus money was found, and Henry Harris.

Neither Davis nor Harris was believed by government agents to be a ringleader in the counterfeiting game. The money found in Davis' car was all in bogus $5 bills.

Grand Champion Steer Auctioned For Sum $1,582.10

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(P)—The Grand Champion of North American steers, Briarcliff Model, was sold today at $1,582.10 as the scene of the 34th International Livestock Exposition shifted from the auction block.

The buyer was Harold Cudney, of Cudney and Company, Chicago packers, representing the Palmer Angus in Chicago. Steaks from the huge steer will be sold to Chicagoans for Christmas holiday dinners at the fancy price grand champions at the International always bring.

The price paid was the highest since 1920 when $250 a pound was paid for "Jimmy" shown by J. E. McKenney of Missouri. Last year's champion sold for $1,250 and was consumed by residents of Pittsburgh.

"Briarcliff Model," a 1,217 pounder, thus brought grand total of approximately $1,582.10 to his owner Oakleigh Thorne, whose Briarcliff Farms, Inc., at Pine Plains, N. Y., raised the champion.

These three radiant youngsters were found to be the nearest to physical perfection of any of the half million boys and girls who belong to the 4-H clubs in the United States. They were selected Tuesday as winners of the 4-H Boys and Girls Club Health Contest, held in connection with the International Live Stock Show held in Chicago. They are, left to right: Clista Millsap of Mount Pleasant, Ia.; Glenn L. Sherwood of Larned, Kan., and Shirley C. Drew of Fayette, Missouri.

Government Gold Price Was Held At Same Figure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—The government continued a six-day-old gold price today as it entered the money market to borrow $850,000,000.

The RFC quotation of $34.01 an ounce was the highest since gold buying began. But it was the same fixed price before. Thanks giving. Since that time, with the price for newly-mined domestic gold the same, the government bond market has been firm.

In London, the offering for bar gold today was $32.22 an ounce on the basis of sterling opening at $11 1/2 to the pound.

Pork Is Stolen From Residence White's Chapel

County officers were seeking a clue Thursday morning for the thieves who took 64 cans of pork from the residence of Walter Hamilton in the White's Chapel community Wednesday night.

The canned meat was the property of Mr. Hamilton and Judge Sam B. Jordan of Corsicana.

No trace had been found of the missing property Thursday morning.

The hog was killed and canned Wednesday.

PROSECUTION ASKS DEFENSE ATTORNEY STOP MYSTERY PLAN

VETERANS CLAIM M'CUTCHEON HAS 'SOMETHING UP SLEEVE' WOOLEY CASE

DALLAS, Dec. 7.—(P)—A replica of the bedroom in which Mrs. Toy G. Woolley, 20, was shot to death a month ago was shown today in front of the jury box at noon today as the defense moved toward a climax in Woolley's murder trial.

The unusual spectacle was permitted after Currie McCutcheon, defense attorney, had petitioned Judge Noland G. Williams and the privilege was granted.

McCutcheon said he wanted the Woolley furniture transferred from the home to the courtroom before Miss Mina Woolley, 20-year-old sister of the defendant, testified. Miss Woolley was the only eye-witness to the shooting.

The lawyer declined to say when Woolley would testify.

DALLAS, Dec. 7.—(P)—The prosecution in the murder trial of Toy G. Woolley, 20, for the shotgun slaying of his wife, interrupted testimony of a character witness today to ask the court to make "this defendant's lawyer come out in the open and fight."

Apparently surprised at the methods of Currie McCutcheon, Woolley's lawyer, Robert Hurt, district attorney, and Ted Moore, special prosecutor, sought to have him abandon his "tricky" and "mystery" procedure. They made their pleas after the jury had been withdrawn.

Because McCutcheon accepted on the part of the prosecution that they had formed opinions on the case, permitted the state to play his client through cross-examination of defense character witnesses and accepted as a juror a man who said he was a former employer of Woolley's wife, veteran attorneys claimed McCutcheon "undoubtedly must

Buying of Beef For Needy May Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—The federal surplus relief corporation may abandon, at least for the time being, its plan of buying 25,000,000 pounds of canned beef for distribution to the needy.

Relief administration officials said today all bids for the beef, submitted some weeks ago, had been rejected as "too high" and that no decision as to whether new bids would be requested had been reached.

Specifications for the proposed contract said canned beef already in stock would not be eligible and that bidders must be prepared to buy up live beef for processing. The administration made known it desired not only to aid the needy but to reduce the beef surplus.

The relief administration already has bought a considerable amount of canned beef, particularly in Texas where $500,000 has been provided for that purpose.

RFC DIRECTOR HAD LOAN WITH CHASE NATIONAL PUSHED

WAS ASKED TO PUT LOAN
IN SHAPE WITH MORE
COLLATERAL BY BANK

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—Senate stock market investigators were told today that while Harvey Couch, a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, owed money to the Chase National Bank, the RFC made loans to railroads that resulted in payments of more than $10,000,000 to the bank.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the bank board, an old friend of Couch's described to the banking committee half a dozen railroad loans by the RFC which he said permitted payment by the carriers of indebtedness to the bank.

He also disclosed that Couch still owes the bank $153,000 jointly with an associate in Arkansas.

Another loan, made individually to Couch, McCain said, was under-collateralized for six months in 1931, but has since been paid.

McCain said the Chase bank received the following payments from railroads as a result of RFC loans:

Wabash, $1,550,000, August, 1932; Rock Island, $2,000,000, June, 1932; St. Louis and Southwestern, $4,500,000, April, 1932; Chicago and North Western, $1,000,000, September, 1932; Baltimore and Ohio, $1,250,000.

The loan still outstanding by Couch to the Chase bank, McCain testified, was originally a $625,000 advance to Couch and C. H. Moses, of Little Rock.

McCain, who said he and Couch were old friends, testified they jointly borrowed $625,000 from the Chemical National bank a few years ago but had repaid it.

He testified that he increased his own Chase loan at the same time Couch to retire some of his under-collateralized loan.

Chairman Fletcher placed in the record a letter from Couch denying any "irregularity" in his relations with the Chase bank.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—Testimony that a loan by the Chase National bank to Harvey C. Couch, now a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, at one time had lacked sufficient collateral and he requested to put it "in shape" was received today by the Senate Banking committee.

Charles S. McCain, chairman of the Chase National bank and Couch's old friend, testified that he lived 26 years ago in the Arkansas town, told the committee the present value of the loan is $153,000 on which the bank holds $220,000 of collateral.

Questioned by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, the witness said:

TAVERNS, HOSTELRIES TO REGAIN OLD TRADE FROM SPEAKEASIES AS LEGAL DRINKING BEING REVIVED

By DALE HARRISON

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(P)—Business was popping around town today with the pep of a cork from a bottle of champagne.

Activity at liquor warehouses made the places look like the Polo Grounds at a world series game.

Wine and liquor stores were so busy that one of them had to call the police to disperse lines of customers at closing time.

Smart hotels were gleefully reporting record business. Some, despite large stocks of liquor, found their supplies near exhaustion even before the cocktail hour yesterday.

Drivers of liquor trucks worked as long as 24 hours at a stretch—tired but glad. One wine firm had made deliveries of 16,000 cases early today and was still far behind in filling orders.

Department stores selling liquor rushed their salesmen. Most customers asked for rye, but if there was no more rye they took gin; and if no gin, then brandy.

Surprising Wine Demand.

The demand for wines was surprisingly large. Claret and Sherry were the favorites, but Ports and Tokays had their enthusiasts. Even the upper strata beverages—the sparkling burgundies and champagnes—were moving off dealers' shelves at lively speed.

May's cash register marked 2,000 liquor sales an hour. The sidewalks in front of Gimbel's were jammed, and the sales force was quickly augmented so that here, too, an hourly figure of 2,000 sales could be handled.

The line in front of Bloomingdale's was four abreast. The liquor department noted 10,000 sales when the closing bell sounded last night.

NRA DIRECTOR SAYS WOMAN IS EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT; DEFENDS SALARIES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—Miss Frances Robinson, administrative assistant to Hugh S. Johnson, was revealed today to be getting paid $5,780 a year, one of the largest NRA salaries and on a par with the compensation of some of the most expert government employees.

After publication of the fact in a morning newspaper (The Washington Post) reporters inquiring of Johnson were told by him:

"I think that was one below the belt."

The story had said Miss Robinson was elevated from a $25 a week clerkship to her present salary in NRA's short career. Johnson's assistant, with him long, had made many extended trips across the country with the administrator.

ELECTION DISPUTE IN LOUISIANA STILL UNSETTLED THURSDAY

CITIZENS COMMITTEE TAKES FIRM STAND; GOVERNOR REFUSES PRIMARY

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 7.—(P)—Refused a primary for the selection of a successor to the late Representative Solvay E. Kemp, the citizens election committee for the sixth congressional district, today announced a firm stand upon their "citizens popular election" set for December 27 by a district wide voters mass meeting held November 28 in Baton Rouge.

The citizens committee headed by Edward J. Gay issued a statement last night turning Tuesday's election of Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Sr., of Amite, widow of the representative, an attempt "by trickery and fraud to deprive the voters of their right of choice in electing a representative."

Mrs. Kemp was nominated by members of the sixth district democratic executive committee favorable to Senator Huey P. Long and the governor O. K. Allen administration and went into the election as the "unopposed nominee" without the holding of a primary.

Governor Allen and the attorney general's office declared the election was legal and a statement issued last night in New Orleans over the governor's name offered to call another general election.

"If you signify your willingness to be bound under the rulings and precedents which have remained the custom and legal practice of this state, and if then Mrs. Kemp, after such commitment from you, sees fit to tender such a resignation as to create a vacancy, then I will follow the same and call a general election for the 15th of April, 1934."

LINDBERGH FINDS WING OF MONOPLANE HAS BEEN DAMAGED

MRS. LINDBERGH SEES THE SIGNS OF NATAL AS HUSBAND INSPECTS PLANE

NATAL, Brazil, Dec. 7.—(P)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today tuned up the motor of the monoplane in which he and Mrs. Lindbergh flew from Africa yesterday and it was believed he was preparing to start a return flight to the United States by way of Para (Belem) tomorrow.

City authorities said they believed the next Lindbergh flight would be along the northeast coast of Brazil.

Before trying out the motor, the Colonel inspected the hydroplane, riding at anchor in the harbor and found its left wing damaged.

He was out in the harbor long before noon, engaged in a personal examination of the big ship, "Air France," the French International Flying company which operates in South America, immediately offered its repair facilities to the Colonel, who is technical adviser for the Pan-American Airways, the American International Flying company.

While her husband labored on the plane, Mrs. Lindbergh took the opportunity to do a bit of sightseeing. Mrs. Scotchbrook, the wife of the British consul at Natal, whose home the flying Americans are being entertained, accompanied her on the tour of the historic city.

Accustomed as it is to feting fliers, Natal admittedly had a

TWO SMUGGLERS AND PATROLMAN KILLED EL PASO THURSDAY

DEAD AS WERE SEEN TO FALL INTO RIO GRANDE

EL PASO, Dec. 7.—(P)—Three men were killed today and another was wounded in a fight between U. S. border patrolmen and liquor smugglers at the foot of Park street.

The dead:

DORNE C. MELTON, 31, U. S. border patrolman, shot through the heart.

FRANCISCO GONZALEZ, 24, Juarez.

HIGINIO PEREZ, Juarez.

The wounded man, Francisco Mosquera, is in a general hospital in Liberty hospital, Juarez.

American officers seized 60 gallons of mixed liquors.

Melton came here in January from Conyers, Georgia. His body will be sent to Conyers for burial.

Patrolmen said more smugglers may have been killed. They said two men fell in the river during the battle and are looking for the bodies.

The fight started when Melton and five other inspectors challenged 16 men who had waded the river with 150 gallons of liquor.

The smugglers had just reached the American side when the officers leaped out of hiding with drawn guns.

Gunfire met their command to surrender. Melton fell, shot through the heart, at the first volley.

The other inspectors returned the fire as the smugglers dropped their loads and backed into the river, firing as they retreated.

The battle lasted from three to five minutes.

Two men were helped by team companions out of the water on the Mexican side.

During the firing a sniper on the American side behind the officers shot at the officers.

The patrolman believed he was a lookout awaiting the smugglers in which a border patrolman was slain in the last two weeks.

C. Nichols was killed in El Paso several days ago.

Border Patrolmen in the fight today besides Mr. Melton were J. T. Love, Pedro Torres, Bert

Cement Company Suit Is Filed In District Court

AUSTIN, Dec. 7.—(P)—Suit to forfeit the charter of the National Portland Cement Company, of Dallas, was filed today in Texas county district court by the state. A temporary injunction restraining officers from disposing of assets of the company was granted by District Judge J. D. Moore.

The state alleged the company has never manufactured cement. The petition alleges many citizens of Texas bought stock in the company.

The attorney general's department warned against continuing the National Portland Cement Company with the Portland Cement Company, or any of the established cement companies.

VISIT OF LITVINOFF MAY BRING GERMANY INTO LINE WITH LAND OF COMMUNISTS

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—(P)—An appeal for friendlier relations between Nazi Germany and Communist Russia was voiced today by Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff.

Litvinoff, homeward bound after a successful mission to the United States and later talks with Premier Mussolini at Rome, planned only a brief stay here. He was met by Soviet and German officials and after an exchange of pleasantries retired to the Russian embassy.

A few hours before the Russian diplomat's scheduled arrival, Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Nazi party's foreign political division urged in an editorial in the Munich "Voelkischer Beobachter" that animosities between the two countries be forgotten.

Dr. Rosenberg expressed the hope that Litvinoff would not fail to take note of the "objective spirit" prevailing in Berlin toward the Soviets.

Defending Nazi Germany's attitude, the editor went on to say that "while Germany has eliminated communism within its own borders, not only outwardly but also inwardly, it is altogether wrong to assume that national socialism wants to project its philosophic differences upon foreign politics."

Terrell Man and Daughter Killed Grade Crossing

TERRELL, Dec. 7.—(P)—A grade crossing crash brought death to Mrs. Otto Bryant, 38, and her father, E. U. Malory, 78.

The automobile in which they rode stalled in the path of a Texas and Pacific passenger train, the "Sunshine Special," here late yesterday.

Caught on the front of the engine, the car was carried more than 50 yards before the train came to a stop. Both Mrs. Bryant and her father were dead when extricated from the wreckage.

Schoolboy Saves Passenger Train Being Wrecked

OREGON CITY, Ore., Dec. 7.—On his way to the routine of his classroom, Hubert Elger, 13, walked smack into unexpected adventure and probably saved a passenger train from a tragic plunge into the Willamette river.

Hubert, who lives six miles south of here, waited till the Southern Pacific's No. 16 north-bound passenger train rumbled past yesterday then followed in its wake on the tracks that curve along the bank of the Willamette toward Oregon City.

Suddenly there was a crash and a roar. Hubert quickened his pace. Ahead of him he saw the road bed slipping and saw a great part of it slide with a splash into the river.

He knew the southbound passenger train was due soon. He ran at top speed back to New Era station and pantingly told William Dustin, the operator there, of the slide. A telephone call to Portland stopped the train at Oregon City.

problem on its hands in the matter of honoring or trying to honor Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh.

The smiling taciturnity with which the Americans responded to cheers from throngs that hailed them on their arrival from Baltimore, Cambodia, Africa, continued to mask their plans and movements.

The usual rumors flew the rounds: Flights into the interior, hope along the coast—and even a grand tour skirting the continent, but there was neither "yes" nor "no" from the flying couple officially.

So, Natal had to be content with occasional glimpses of "Lindbergh" and "Anne" going to and from the British consulate—there is no United States consul here—and of speculating, apparently groundlessly, upon their future movements.

The most easterly city of Brazil, Natal usually is the first place in the country to be reached by transatlantic fliers; but the arrival of the Lindberghs—on the singular reserve of the Colonel—topped all other like events in arousing interest here.

The entire population was out along the harbor when the American big hydroplane roared in from the Atlantic. Cheers were deafening. Police battled the throngs to maintain order.

With Mrs. Lindbergh operating their plane's wireless, the famous fliers had traveled over the ocean for 15 hours and 10 minutes—she to become the first woman ever to fly in a plane across the South Atlantic.

It was, all Natal thought, an event to celebrate. Yet what was the welcoming delegation which sought its way to his anchored hydroplane in the harbor?

"It was a fine trip," he said, and more of the same. Common-sense remarks, technical comment.

SAO PAULO, Dec. 7.—(P)—Deputy customs put to route four Mexicans came out of the Rio Grande last night but recovered four sacks of opium and alcohol they dropped in their flight.

When the men appeared, the officers called upon them to halt. The men opened fire which the soldiers returned. The men dropped their sacks and dashed across the river again, escaping into the darkness.

POLITICS at Random

ALTHOUGH the money question and NRA stand at the center of current controversy about the Roosevelt recovery policies, no thorough understanding of the case is possible without going deeply under the surface of the whole administration program.

The interesting question is exactly when and how the germ of the present difficulties developed; when that deviation began which has turned an era of almost unanimous administration support into a season of bitter dispute.

It is inescapable that a search for the cause of the controversy begin with a reminder of Mr. Roosevelt's original conception of the process of recovery. Repeatedly he indicated in the beginning that he saw agriculture as the basic industry, and the farm as the place where prosperity must begin its rehabilitation.

He said at Topeka, during the campaign: "If we would get to the root of the difficulty, we will find it in the present lack of equality for agriculture. Farming has not had an even break in our economic system."

What has happened—and what has not happened—to restore agricultural prosperity since these words were uttered, is very much in the mind of Washington now.

Prosperity—On Paper

WHAT Mr. Roosevelt said about "the root of the difficulty" greatly impressed many people having no direct interest in agriculture.

In the presence of this writer, one of the outstanding industrial leaders of the country—an eastern banker—sat down and figured out on paper that if the purchasing power of the farmer could be restored, the depression would be over.

When the special session of congress convened, the President sent in his farm bill immediately behind the purely emergency bank and government economy bills. A farm plan many distrusted—but almost everyone was willing to try—was enacted speedily.

That plan did some good in some sections, but the White House, itself, is authority for the statement that it did not lift farm income at a satisfactory pace.

ington. Farmers protested the codes had raised the price of what they had to buy, while the price of what they sold did not increase commensurately. Open NRA opposition there broke the ice of open opposition elsewhere.

It was in the farm belt that the demand for currency adjustment reached a stage, in late fall, which caused concern in the capital. Few doubt that gold-buying was inaugurated as a reply to western unrest. And gold-buying, in turn, has stirred by far the most outspoken protests yet heard against Mr. Roosevelt and his policies.

A Job—Admittedly

IN ALL fairness, everyone recognizes that Secretary Wallace and his colleagues have been beset by many obstacles, including a widespread lack of cooperation among the farmers, themselves. Many believe Washington was attempting the impossible.

The certain thing is that congress again will hear much next session about "the root of the difficulty," and may, conceivably, try to go back to the beginning, and start the process of recovery over again.

large cash balances, during the lean years. A tabulation by Standard Statistics Co. shows that total cash and equivalent for 433 industrial corporations for which comparable data are available aggregated $3,658,000,000 at the end of 1929, and at the end of 1932 it had been reduced only to $3,361,000,000.

Not only the practice of building up huge cash accounts developed during the depression years, but many corporations used a large proportion of their earnings to expand plant and equipment. Proponents of the liberal dividend theory assert that paying out of a larger proportion of corporate profits would have tended to stem the building up of excess productive capacity, and would have tended to expand consumption, thus narrowing the disparity which developed between what the producer could produce and what the consumer could buy.

Those who oppose the theory, however, assert that the problem is not so simple as it seems. They say that these cash surpluses are not necessarily idle, if they are in the form of bank deposits, it may be assumed that the banks are lending the money for constructive purposes that spur employment and consumption, or if they are in the form of U. S. government bonds, they are financing necessary expenditures of the government. The turning of earnings back into plant and equipment, they say, provides employment for the workers who make the materials.

"We hope an objective view will also gain ground in Moscow," the editorial concludes.

It was announced at the Russian embassy that Litvinoff had decided to depart for Moscow to meet without seeing the United States ambassador to Russia, William C. Blount, as arranged previously.

There was nothing significant about their planned meeting, it was explained, any way they will meet soon in Russia.

The embassy denied that the foreign commissar was scheduled to meet Germany's foreign minister, Konstantin von Neurath. M. Litvinoff was spending the day on purely private business, the embassy said.

Meanwhile, Rosenberg's comments about face on Russo-German relations was a topic of discussion in political circles. Rosenberg consistently has been a fierce hater of Communism.

Since Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels' newspaper Angriff a few days ago pleaded for Russo-German understanding and so far forgot his anti-semitism and anti-Communism as to pay a glowing tribute to Litvinoff, it was assumed by many that Chancellor Hitler personally had ordered a change of policy toward Russia.

ROUTINE METHODS CHOSEN BY UNITED STATES TREASURY TO REFINANCE SOME OBLIGATIONS

By WILLIAM L. BEALF.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—Routine methods for raising a billion dollars were chosen by the treasury today in its first big financing operation since gold buying began.

Dispersing by its action all talk that greenbacks might be used to meet December maturities, the treasury offered the money market a 2-1/4 per cent for funds to meet immediate needs.

Books were opened for subscriptions on $950,000,000 of one-year treasury certificates, dated December 15 and paying 2-1/4 per cent rate. The money will be used to retire $728,000,000 of obligations maturing on the same date—$473,328,000 of 4-1/4 certificates and $254,672,000 of bills bearing 3-1/4 of one per cent.

Another portion, $114,000,000, will go to interest payments on the public debt. The remainder of more than $100,000,000 will be added to the treasury's cash balance which stands now above $1,000,000,000.

By exceeding December maturities by $222,000,000, the financing will push the public debt that much higher. It stands now at more than $23,500,000,000 after reaching a low of just above $16,000,000,000 from the war-debt peak of $26,596,000,000 in 1919.

Just what effect the gold-buying program had on the form of the refunding issues was at question between those for and against the gold policy. The former foresaw no difficulty in disposing of the securities and considered the interest moderate, pointing out that more than half the maturing obligations are paying 4-1/4 per cent.

WOMEN BARRED FROM GRIDIRON DINNER BE GUESTS FIRST LADY

MRS. ROOSEVELT TAKES COGNIZANCE OF RULES OF FAMED GATHERING

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—The Gridiron boys will be boys as Mrs. Roosevelt is going to entertain the ladies, including Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, Saturday night.

The issued invitations to high women officials, cabinet wives, gridiron wives, and women of press all by their sex barred from the semi-annual stag dinner of the club which the President will attend.

On the last such occasion, Miss Perkins, chatting with other White House guests, laughingly said the club could just as well have invited her along with the rest of the cabinet, for she has gracefully declined. She is the only cabinet member ever omitted.

But the Gridiron Club already had their rules all fixed to take no chances. That happened after Miss Jeannette Rankin, first woman member of congress, became the first and only women to make the Gridiron grade.

She was met by Harry J. Brown, and went to the world war dinner of December 8, 1917, at the next meeting, on January 12, 1918, the club passed this resolution: "Resolved, that the character of the Gridiron Club as regards the presence of women as guests or spectators shall not be changed without vote of the club."

And that stands, so Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick found to her disappointment in 1929, and so any other women would still find out.

Arthur Sears Henning handed in Mrs. McCormick's name as one of his guests for the April 13, 1929 dinner, but the club secretary wrote him a note, and Mrs. McCormick dined elsewhere.

COUNTY COUNCIL PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N PLANNED

A county council of the Parent-Teachers Association will be organized Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. at the public library in Corsicana. The city council of the P-T. A. has endorsed this work of forming a county-wide organization.

Mrs. J. M. Tullios, third vice-president of district twelve, is vitally interested in this work. As district vice president, her work is principally extension work. Mrs. Tullios is interested in getting representatives from every community in Navarro county to attend this meeting Tuesday.

As acting superintendent of schools of Navarro county, I would like to add my hearty endorsement to the P-T. A. work of this city and county. The P-T. A. work has demonstrated its value to schools and communities. Active Parent-Teachers Associations indicate interest in schools, interest in communities, and more important yet, it indicates an interest in the child.

The organization brings the parent and the child together, thus forming a contact that proves of mutual benefit. Through this organization, the child is studied from all angles. The parents are able to see the teacher's view point, and the teacher is able to see the child from the view point of a parent.

The Parent-Teacher Association was organized as the "Congress of Mothers" in Chicago in 1884. Since that time it has grown to national proportions. The P-T. A. maintains both state and national organizations.

COUNTY WILL AID IN LOCAL RELIEF BOARD EXPENSES

The Navarro county commissioners court Thursday morning in special session voted $30 per month to the Navarro County Relief board and a number of those persons receiving aid in the county on the pauper roll will be taken care of by the relief board as the headquarters of the relief agencies on West Collin street was unsatisfactory and that property owners in that vicinity had vigorously protested the continued maintenance of the headquarters there.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME

THE CORSIANA DAILY SUN DAILY PATTERN

SMARTNESS "AT HOME"

Pattern 1535

When your figure is heavier than you'd like to have people know, your frock must be chosen with care—this applies to the simple models worn about the home, too. The model, sketched—really nice enough to wear for afternoons—has been designed to give perfect proportion and a straighter, more slender silhouette. This is achieved by the clever use of contrast, the surplus line of the bodice and the snug hip yoke. You might choose tubular prints with monotone contrast, or fashion the frock entirely of one color.

Pattern 1535 is available in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 38 takes 21-2 yards 38 inch fabric and 11-9 yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send Fifteen Cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

The Current Edition of The Anne Adams Pattern Book will help you save money. Order your copy today! Price of Catalog fifteen cents. Catalog and Pattern together, twenty-five cents.

NOTICE
 The exceptions prove the rule that people like to spend money. So early in life does the desire assert itself that it is thought by some to be instinctive. There is less odium attached to the name "spendthrift" than to its opposite "miser," which might be cited as evidence of the universality of the buying habit.

CORSICANA, TEX., DEC. 8, 1935.

SPENDERS

This tendency among the masses to spend and buy is recognized by those who have something to sell. Before some may spend there must be others with something to sell and the times when the demand has exceeded the supply have been frequent and of brief duration.

There are many degrees of buying or spending. Some people spend more than their incomes. Some buy for the love of "shopping" and others because they need the things they purchase. There are the heavy spenders as well as the thrifty spenders. Every member of civilized society must spend and buy in greater or less degree.

But there are only two types of sellers. There is the type which strives to get the buyer his "money's worth," and there is the second type which sees in the spending propensity an opportunity to get the other fellow's money for nothing. It is unfortunate that the public does not do all its spending with those who give them "honest weight" for their dollars. If it did, there would be no need for the mail order business, the wildcat stock promoter, and the con men.

BURDENED COURTS
 The burdened court dockets are to be the rule rather than the exception. In Maine to California, from the highest court to the lowest, more offenders are being brought before the courts today than ever before in the history of the state.

Some argue that this is a lawbreaking is but a necessary evil and that when the pendulum swings back, they say it must, crowd the courts will be but a moment. Those who look facts in the face, however, can find little or no relief in the nation is buried under an avalanche of laws and ordinances. Criminals are more numerous and more audacious.

The way out of the problem is to repeal a few laws and cease enacting every trivial law. The average man, going about his ordinary life, cannot avoid breaking a great many laws. A percentage of the cases cluttering the courts will not be there. Dreams of a crimeless age are the product of the modern age of lawmaking but seem to be clogged with more and more laws.

As long as they insist on making new laws for people to break, Congress and the state legislatures are morally bound to provide enough judges. To the law of the land, the accused person is entitled to a speedy trial and with court clogged as they are, a speedy trial is impossible.

They are relative, remember when the wicked hands in the headline, What did they expect?

WORK AND PLEASURE.
 Let's put it this way: Golf is only good
 When men close office doors a round to play.
 All pleasure, if it's rightly understood,
 Needs work behind it or it fades away.
 Nor dance nor song nor symphony can sublimely
 Can keep man happy for too long a time.
 Ask men who have no work what joy they find
 Rising at dawn to barren idleness?
 What sweet delight can give them
 peace of mind
 Or pour a soothing balm on their distress?
 Ere one can find much pleasure in his play
 He must have work from which to get away.
 'Tis toil that makes men happy!
 Nothing less Than irksome duty, with its stern command!
 The strife and constant struggle for success
 Forever at the side of pleasure stand.
 Who would enjoy vacations now and then Must know he soon shall be at work again.

BACK TO SMALL FACTORIES

Henry Ford predicts that within 10 years the work now done by a few large industrial plants will be done by hundreds of small factories scattered up and down the country. The depression has revealed the weakness of the economic system which called for vast factories clustered around a few great cities.

Mills and factories representing investments running into millions have been entirely shut down since the depression, not because there were no orders, but because there were no orders large enough to make the opening of such large institutions profitable. The few small plants which survived the era of mass production, consolidation and expansion lived through the lean years on business the big boys could not handle.

As a result of this sudden reversal of trends labor has trickled back into the small cities and towns and to the farm. The big industrial centers have lost much of their man-power and now are losing their factories to the country, where production will be on a smaller scale but close to the labor supply and to local markets.

This may seem like going backward, since our industrial system began with many small factories, whereas it is really the correction of an error in judgment. Consolidation and expansion proceeded too rapidly. Distribution could not keep pace with them. Turning the work back to where factory and farm are wedded may solve some of the most perplexing problems of our times.

ROUND-THE-WORLD AIR LINE

Only a few years ago announcement of plans for inaugurating a round-the-world air service would have claimed immediate world attention.

Today it evokes little interest, being looked upon more or less as a routine development. This is due to the great strides made by air navigation, which has convinced the public of the practicability of such a project.

The undertaking, according to tentative plans, contemplates an air mail and passenger service out of Washington and reaching around the world. It will be operated by American and German interests. Both dirigibles and airplanes will be used. The former are to be employed on that part of the route between Washington and Paris. Between Batavia and Manila seaplanes will be used. Then the service would shift back to dirigibles, the latter operating from Manila to Yokohama, Honolulu and Los Angeles. Fast land plans will compose the Los Angeles-Washington link. The proposed route covers 20,953 miles.

The practicability of both plane and dirigible service has been demonstrated to a degree that would seem to promise success for the undertaking, from the mechanical standpoint. Nor is there good reason to doubt its success in a commercial sense.

THE WASHINGTON PAYROLL

Whatever the NRA, AAA, RFC, CCC and other government-by-abbreviations functions accomplish in the way of improving employment conditions, they cannot be said to have fallen down as job makers.

These recovery or emergency agencies have created 16,666 jobs to date and will continue to augment the federal payrolls at a time when the nation needs nothing more than jobs and payrolls. Another 16,000 temporary jobs have been created in the cabinet departments, which are doing their part of the recovery work.

Not included in these figures are the CCC enrollees, superintendents, foremen, clerks and others, who come under the forestry departments of the several states although they owe their salaries to Uncle Sam. These jobs run up into the thousands.

The net increase of federal jobs is, to be sure, only 3,000, due to the "resignations" which usually follow a change of administrations at Washington, yet the turnover has been tremendous. Releases since March 4 have numbered 145,000; appointments 148,000. Although some of the 145,000 are included in the 148,000, by virtue of reappointment in other departments, scores of thousands are now getting manna where others were getting it eight months ago. "Jim" Farley, dubbed Prince of Pap by his president, seems to be doing right well by the faithful, the protests of Democratic congressmen to the contrary notwithstanding.

A professor at the University of Georgia has flipped a can of 200 pennies 40,000 times to discover that heads and tails appear equally. Probably he will also discover one of these days that the sun sets as often as it rises.

Another fine thing about the rural life is that you can't hear the neighbor's daughters cultivate their musical talent.

While men argued about the relative ability of crows and seagulls as clam-crackers the crows and gulls get the clams.

Pennsylvania would foreclose the mortgage on Arkansas if it could find a buyer for the place.

Russian half-hours must be as long as Swedish miles.

Not even a token from France.

SIT AND DRINK

Is drinking liquor while standing more harmful to the body or morals than drinking while sitting?

This is a question which is figuring prominently in connection with liquor-control regulations being framed in preparation for the legal return of liquor on December 6.

The New York state alcoholic beverage control board has taken its stand—maybe we should say position—with the sitters.

Under the regulations it has announced for governing the sale of liquor in New York, drinking at bars will be prohibited. "Salons and speakeasies are ostracized under the plan," says a news item describing the latter, "which permits service of drinks only at tables in bona fide restaurants, legitimate hotels, clubs, railroad cars and ships."

Will it bar saloons and speakeasies? There is no assurance that it will. A strong probability is not lacking that it may even encourage the operation of speakeasies—a place where a man may rest his elbow on a bar and his foot on a brass rail while he hurriedly or leisurely satisfies his thirst for a drink. There are many men who do not relish their drinks as much sitting as standing. And if the demand for a bar is strong enough there will be one in a speakeasy.

The question of control is one that will encounter numerous difficulties at the outset. It will not be easy to decide upon the best methods, so many factors are involved. Experiments will have to be made until a satisfactory plan is found. Whether a drinker should sit or stand is only one of numerous questions that will have to be decided.

If the farmers are to utilize their increased leisure from raising less produce by raising more of what Sherman gave as the definition of war, neither their own nor the country's position is likely to be helped.

An ounce of sense will disguise a pound of ignorance. Poverty has its merits. The poor are in no danger of being robbed, kidnaped or sent to the senate.

The proper punishment for the chap who extends a flabby hand is to introduce him to another one like that.

One cannot grow old gracefully if he must continually dodge automobiles.

'Tis time Cuba raises less cane of two sorts.

MONUMENTS TO HEROISM.

Unveiling of another monument—by Alabama this time—on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., recalls to mind the almost forgotten fact that not all the battlefields and "fronts" are in Europe. We prefer to forget our wars and cover the scars they left.

The Gettysburg battlefield is the largest and best developed of our military national monuments. Its miles of drives and square miles of fields, hills, ridges and ravines are studded with monuments erected by states, cities, organizations and individuals to commemorate the heroes in blue and grey who fought and who fell there.

Alabama did not erect this monument to open old scores, revive almost forgotten issues or keep alive the spirit of military conquest. Nor is that the purpose of the other battlefield stones and statues.

Washington has preserved the battlefields as nearly as possible in their wartime state as memorials to the soldier dead rather than as monuments to war. The millions who make pilgrimages to them in the course of a year come away with an unspeakable horror of war, a reverence for the victims of war and a new determination to prevent war at any cost except freedom and national honor.

So the American people erect monuments not to war but to heroism.

FRIENDLESS JAPAN

Among the silent protests against American recognition of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was Japan, for the reason that if anything Tokyo fears more than Moscow it is Moscow recognized by Washington.

Another fact in connection with recognition is that Moscow desired recognition by Washington for the psychological effect it would have on imperialistic Japan.

The fact that Washington looked with disfavor upon the Japanese occupation of Manchuria and invasion of China and joined with the League of Nations in protest tells Japan that her Far East policy as regards Russia will find no sympathy on this side of the Pacific.

The purpose of Moscow and the trend of thought in Russia are immediately apparent. The first Soviet ambassador to Washington is M. Trotsky, who was ambassador in Tokio for five years and is an expert on Japanese affairs. The state

TEXAS LAWS STILL PROHIBIT SALE OF HIGH-POWER LIQUOR

ONLY BEER OF NOT MORE THAN 3.2 ALCOHOLIC CONTENT LEGAL IN STATE

AUSTIN, Dec. 5.—(P)—While 16 states today returned to the prohibition era—most of them in revised form—Texas law enforcement officers were reminded by James V. Allred, Texas attorney general, that this state's strict laws against the sale of "hard liquor" still were in effect and should be rigidly enforced.

Allred said complaints had been received at his office that out of state brewers had planned to ship beer with a high alcoholic content into Texas. The Texas beer statute limits alcoholic content of beverages to 3.2 by weight.

"This cannot be done legally," Allred said. "It presents a serious question to the citizenship of this state. Our laws must be upheld and enforced until and unless they are changed by lawful methods, which would include a constitutional amendment voted upon by the people."

Allred laid particular emphasis on the Texas laws that provided for seizure and condemnation of any vehicle used in illegal transportation of intoxicating liquor and warned transportation companies that violations would subject them to heavy fines and their charters to forfeiture.

Local law enforcement agencies also were directed to the statute that provides for padlocking establishments where intoxicants are kept, sold, manufactured, bartered or given away or to which persons resort for the purpose of drinking intoxicating liquors.

Two kinds of prohibition, Texas has both constitutional and statutory prohibition. The constitution was revised at a special election last August 26, to authorize the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer and wines.

The law giving effect to this amendment now is under attack in the court of criminal appeals. "Possession, manufacture, sale or transportation of hard liquor is a felony, punishable by a penitentiary sentence."

"I am calling on the better element of our citizenship, whether wet or dry in sentiment, and upon all of the peace officers and prosecuting attorneys of this state to see that the law is upheld by prompt and vigorous prosecutions and the utilization of every remedy which the law affords," Allred said.

Charter Subject to Forfeiture.
 "Personally, I do not believe that any of the railroads or legitimate trucking concerns of this state will accept any shipment of beer or wine with a greater alcohol content than 3.2 per cent, or will have anything to do with the transportation of intoxicating liquors in violation of this state's law."

Allred said it was "absolutely essential to uphold the law because it is the law." He added that failure to do so will seriously affect and impair state revenues.

"I cannot too strongly urge the citizenship of this state to report violations of the law to their local officers and insist upon rigid and firm enforcement of all the laws on this subject," Allred said.

CARL CHANCE IS SCHEDULED TO BE TRIED NEXT MONDAY

UNDER INDICTMENTS FOR MURDER IN CONNECTION DEATH TAXI DRIVER

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 5.—(Sp.)—Carl Chance, under indictment for murder in connection with the death of Dudley Williams, is scheduled to go on trial Monday, December 11, in the eighty-seventh district court of Limestone county at Groesbeck before Judge Lar Smith. FreeStone county officials announced late Monday afternoon. Williams was found shot to death on the Youngfairfield road on the morning of January 24, 1933. Clarence Chance was tried at Fairfield on a companion indictment in the spring and sentenced to thirty-five years. Two postponements were granted in the trials of Carl Chance, Lonnie Sikes, and Olen Tyler, all under indictment for murder in connection with Williams' death, and a few weeks ago the cases were transferred to the Limestone county division of Judge Smith's court. Sikes and Tyler are scheduled to go on trial on December 18.

The date of the Chance case was announced Monday following the receipt of news from Dallas that Clyde Hood, assistant United States district attorney, had received instructions to turn Chance over to state authorities for trial on the murder indictment. Chance was sentenced to two years and fined $1,000 upon conviction in federal court in Dallas on a liquor conspiracy charge in 1932 and the U. S. Circuit Court at New Orleans recently affirmed the sentence.

FreeStone county officials said that a writ of habeas corpus and prosequendum had been issued in the Groesbeck court last week at the request of County Attorney Henry Jackson and served on United States Marshall "Red" Wright and Sheriff Smoot Schmid of Dallas county, ordering them to deliver the defendant to Sheriff Will Adams of Limestone county for trial. They reported that previous requests for the federal prisoner had been refused by federal officials and an appeal had been made to the United States Attorney General for temporary custody of Chance.

The officials announced that they had been informed by Assistant United States Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan last Saturday that the writ would be honored.

ANNUAL INVITATION BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT READY FOR WEEK-END

TWENTY-ONE TEAMS HAVE REGISTERED FOR PLAY STARTING FRIDAY

Preparations were rapidly being up at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday morning for the opening of the sixth annual Y. M. C. A. Invitation Basketball tournament which opens Friday morning and continues through Saturday night. Twenty-one teams were in the arena when the gates were closed this morning, and drawing will take place at 8:30 Friday morning, with the first game being played at 9 o'clock. Indications are that this year's tournament will be the biggest ever conducted by the Y. M. C. A. here. If fair weather prevails through the two days duration of the meet, it will, in all probability, be the most successful in its history.

The teams that will play include Rice, Angus, Bradley, Roane, Kerns, Pickett, Union High, Emhouse, Richland, Bazette, Navarino, Nemo, Barry, Emmett, Brushy, Prairie, Clark, Bryan, Corbet, Purley, Purdon, and Currie.

Play Starts 9 a. m. Friday
The first game will begin at 9 o'clock Friday morning and one game will be played hourly, with the exception of taking out one hour between 12 and 1 for lunch, and 6 and 7 for dinner, and the second round of elimination will be completed Friday night. The second round will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, and continue as on Friday, until the semi-finals are reached. The first semi-final game will be at 3 o'clock Saturday, and the second semi-final at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The consolation game for third place will be at 7:30 and the final game at 9:30 Saturday night.
An exhibition game for 8:30 is being arranged for the Y. M. C. A. Aces. Y officials are negotiating for a strong county or nearby county team. In the event such a team cannot be secured, the management officials will select an all-star team from teams already eliminated, and they will play the Aces.

Admission prices were announced as follows this morning by Y. M. C. A. officials: All Friday's games, twenty-five cents; all Saturday morning and afternoon games, ten cents; all Sunday games, five cents. The first round of elimination will be completed Friday night, and the consolation and final games, Saturday night, twenty-five cents. Richard Jones, physical director, who is promoting the tournament, announced Thursday morning that if any team desires to stage a protest against any other players or teams, such a protest must be called to his attention before the play of the players in question have begun. The protest is not to be filed before the game, it will not be permitted after the player has played in a game.

SECOND NEGRO IS CONVICTED ASSAULT IN ALABAMA COURTS

DECATUR, Ala., Dec. 6.—(P)—The second of seven negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case," tried on a charge of attacking a white woman, was convicted today by a Morgan county jury. The sentence automatically carries the death penalty.

Norris was the second of seven negroes to be retried and convicted on charges of attacking two white women near Scottsboro, Ala., on a freight train two years ago.

Heywood Patterson the first, was convicted last week and given the death sentence.

Cases of the five remaining negroes under trial are being postponed until after Patterson's conviction.

The jury received Norris' case Monday morning and after deliberating more than 15 hours before reaching a verdict. Norris was in the courtroom when the sentence was returned.

The negroes were indicted more than two years ago on a charge of attacking Mrs. Virginia Price and Ruby Bates on a freight train in Jackson county.

All were convicted and sentenced to death but the sentences were set aside by the United States supreme court. Under a change of venue the cases were brought to Morgan county, where last spring Heywood Patterson was retried and convicted.

The sentence was set aside by the trial judge and the remainder of the cases postponed.

Patterson was brought to trial for the third time two weeks ago and Norris went on trial immediately after Patterson's conviction.

The state's principal witness, Mrs. Price who testified that the negroes denied their guilt were supported by Ruby Bates, who, in a deposition in New York, denied the girls had been attacked.

TOMMIE YOUNGER ELECTED NEW COACH AT WAXAHACHIE HI

Tommie C. Younger, Corsicana high and Centenary College graduate and star center on both aggregations, track man and basketball player, at present coach of the Midland high school Eagles, Tuesday was elected athletic director of Waxahachie high school, succeeding A. A. Scott, dean of Texas high school.

Younger will assume his duties as athletic director, Feb. 1, but will not take charge of basketball until next year. He will be engaged in the physical education work until time for the spring training in football and in track.

Younger graduated from Corsicana high school in 1927 and from Centenary College in 1931. He was a star center and participated in basketball and football in both high school and college.

"Waxahachie will be back in district 11-A football competition next year," the new Waxahachie mentor stated. He plans to spend considerable time working on the new football field to be constructed at Waxahachie. The Ellis county capital has not been in the district 11 race for the past couple of seasons. In 1932, Waxahachie was in class B but the enrollment in 1933 sent the school back into district 11-A, but the football team did not play the remaining schools in the district.

The new Waxahachie mentor has been coaching at Mildred Consolidated high school since he finished his college career at Centenary College. He is the second to become a coach in district 11. Ed Price, head basketball coach and assistant football mentor at Hillsboro high, is a former Corsicana and Texas U. star all-round athlete.

FUGITIVE SINCE FEBRUARY PARISH HAS SURRENDERED

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(P)—Frank Parish, a fugitive since last February, surrendered to the United States Marshal today on an indictment charging use of the mails fraudulently in the financing of a Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company.

His $35,000,000 pipe line company went into receivership in the spring of 1932. Several months later a government investigation and audit resulted in the indictment of Parish and several associates in the direction of the company for use of the mails in a scheme to defraud investors in Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line stock.

Then in December, 1932, Parish was indicted in New York on a grand larceny charge, which he denied.

He elected to go into voluntary exile last February rather than face the mail fraud charges, and his $5,000 bond was forfeited.

Parish has residences at Kansas City, Mo., and East Orange, N. J. Before he was 36 he had built a $18,000,000 fortune. Organized the pipe line company to draw natural gas 1,200 miles from Texas to Illinois, and bought himself the former presidential yacht Mayflower. Then the collapse of Missouri-Kansas brought disaster.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson admitted Parish to $15,000 bond and continued indefinitely the trial at Chicago.

Parish's trial date is set for next week.

NATION ADJUSTING ITSELF TO LEGAL LIQUOR ONCE MORE

VARIED CONTROL PLANS TO BE ATTEMPTED BY NINETEEN WET STATES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(P)—A nation that had made federal prohibition just a repealed constitutional amendment worked hard today to adjust itself to the new order of things.

And, surprisingly to some, the 20 states whose laws permitted the sale of hard liquor after Utah last yesterday became the 36th to ratify repeal had comparatively few citizens feeling the worse today for celebrations.

Throughout the country, the festivities seemed to lack the fervor some had forecast.

In many cases, the supply was scant; in several states, regulatory set-ups had not been completed so the liquor suppliers were few.

There were, too, many indications that a number of state officials expected to follow the lead of President Roosevelt, in proclaiming repeal of the nearly 14-year-old law, stated his future aims in these words:

"The policy of the government will be to see to it that the social and political evils that have been created in the pre-prohibition era shall not be revived nor permitted again to exist."

He asked "especially that no state shall by law or otherwise authorize the return of the moon either in its old form or in some modern guise" and said the "objective we seek through a national policy is the education of every citizen toward a greater temperance throughout the nation."

Problems Numerous.
The organization he was creating to effectuate that declared policy plugged away on the hundred or so problems necessitated by the repeal of a law which left no regulatory statutes in its place. The recovery and agricultural acts with their code provisions were being used until congress could enact necessary laws.

Distillers, brewers and importers already were under codes; hearings had just been held on one for the retailers and blenders.

Numerous attempts were being made to keep bootleggers from profiting by the expected increased demand for liquor. The federal government is head of the new federal alcohol control administration. In one of his first orders tried to speed legitimate supplies.

The temporary liquor import committee, which heads, continued issuing permits for immediate importation of American-type bourbon and rye whiskey suitable for blending. The committee did not say how much of that liquor would be admitted, but officials estimated Canada had nearly 20,000,000 gallons which could be imported into the United States.

Fin Trade Facts
Negotiations regarding with other countries for trade pacts whereby their spirits and wines might be exchanged for American farm surpluses.

These were but a few of the problems that occupied Washington officials. The states had as many, or more. And from leading prohibitionists came warnings that the fight was not over yet.

O. C. Christgau, executive assistant to the superintendent of the anti-saloon league, warned that "so long as the liquor traffic exists the battle against this intolerable evil will go on."

Edwin E. Blake, national secretary of the prohibition party, forecast that national prohibition will return; Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, Anti-Saloon League founder, also predicted a fight for regulatory legislation.

Regulatory Problem.
It was this regulatory problem that caused most difficulty in the states. Those in which, theoretically at least, the sale of spirits became legal with repeal were Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Louisiana, New York, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, New Mexico, Nevada, Oregon, Maryland, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Montana.

In Colorado, for instance issuance of the first retail liquor licenses was postponed until today. Wisconsin's first sales were limited; Rhode Island quickly exhausted its supply.

Mother, Father And Two Children Burned to Death

GRACE BAY, N. S. Dec. 6.—(P)—Trapped by fire, a man and wife and two of their four children, for whom they sacrificed their lives, were burned to death early today as flames destroyed their two-story frame home.

The dead were Sam Auelon, 38, Mrs. Addie Auelon, 36, Josie, 11, Harold, 7.

The four bodies were found within a few feet of the front door through which the mother and father carried two of their children and then raced back in an effort to rescue the others.

They battled their way through smoke and flames within sight of the front door when they were hit by flames and overcome by smoke. The bodies were close together, the mother clasping the body of Josie while Harold was held by his father.

His immediate supply; permit difficulties hindered the flow in Indiana; the Washington State legislature still wrestled with the problem as did that in Oregon; bars were polished in Massachusetts while sales permits were issued slowly.

Ohio, after retaining the amendment at 2:43 p.m. yesterday, remained arid because of state law needing legislative action. Pennsylvania's dry governor, Gifford Pinchot, was charged with controlling his state's regulatory machinery after the state convention at 12:50 p.m. approved the repealing 21st amendment.

Utah, number 36 in the state line-up at 5:31 p.m. couldn't even wait until January 2, 1934, while its legislature must repeal the state law before harder liquors become legal.

In New York, John Barleycorn came back, but he had restraint and dignity; in California he was just about as well-behaved; in New Jersey, one of the wettest of the wet states, Governor Moore last night left the state officially in control of the liquor control bill passed by the legislature. The legislature later, however, passed the measure over the veto.

Nevada, openly wet, may be dry; but the Carolinas, the only states so far to reject repeal, took prohibition's death without notice; Kentuckians, hailing from the biggest liquor-producing states, had laws keeping their state dry until at least the latter part of 1935.

Little ceremony marked Washington's official promulgation of repeal. President Roosevelt, with William Phillips, acting secretary of state, simply signing the necessary proclamations. That by the president was necessary to end, on January 1, 1934, about $212,000,000 in various taxes which are to be replaced by liquor levies.

And immediately government realignments were ordered to make the changes needed because a constitutional amendment was repealed for the first time in the history of the republic.

Among other things, the prohibition unit of the justice department has been abolished, the "dry unit," the bureau of industrial alcohol was merged with the internal revenue bureau. The 1,200 prohibition agents in the field will, for the time being, help enforce the revenue laws in wet states and aid local officers in enforcing the laws in those that remain dry.

Navy Bone Dry.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(P)—Secretary Swanson plans to keep the navy bone dry despite the passing of national prohibition.

"Our navy doesn't need whiskey to make it fight," he said today at a big conference.

"Some navies give the men liquor before a battle but we depend upon good American grit."

Hard liquors have been barred from American warships since 1918 and in 1918 the liquor was abolished by Secretary Joseph Daniels.

ADDITIONAL INCOME PLANNED IN CHANGES FOR REVENUE ACT

EVASION OF INCOME TAXES WOULD BE ELIMINATED IN ONE AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(P)—Thirty additional changes in the revenue act estimated to yield an additional annual $35,000,000 to the government were proposed today by a house ways and means sub-committee.

This supplements the sub-committee's report to the full committee yesterday in which its proposed revisions and additions calculated by members to return another $288,000,000 to the government each year.

One of the most important additions recommended would deny losses to be taken in the case of sales or exchanges of property between members of a family, or between a shareholder and corporation in which such shareholder owns a majority of the voting stock.

"Many instances," the sub-committee reported, "have been brought to light where the transactions have taken place for the sole purpose of taking a loss for income tax purposes."

While a majority of the changes proposed were minor, several of them were designed to supplement previous recommendations to close up gaps in the law and prevent wealthy persons from avoiding income and surtaxes.

Another change proposed would force taxpayers to report their gambling gains if they desire to deduct their gambling losses.

Still another important suggestion was that a liquidating dividend be treated as a sale of stock.

Other changes included: The tax on an annuity receipts, to the extent that they represent income, should not be postponed as permitted by present law. Annuity receipts are now taxed but not until the total amounts received exceed the total amount paid for the annuity.

Interest paid on deposits invested in tax exempt securities should be disallowed as a deduction for income tax purposes.

Disallowance for income tax purposes of deductions for estate, inheritance, legacy, succession, and gift taxes.

Disallowance of deductions attributable to tax exempt income, such as interest on state securities, and arries received by state employees, and income from leases of state school lands.

Another proposal would eliminate a section in existing law providing that in the case of the sale of mines and oil or gas wells where the principal value of the property has been demonstrated by the prospecting done by the taxpayer the tax attributable to such sale shall not exceed 16 per cent of the selling price.

BEAUTY CHATS

THE MOUTH AND TEETH

Mouth Beauty.
If you follow Miss Forbes' suggestions you can have healthy and beautiful teeth and save a great deal of money at the same time.

Dentists have a gloomy habit of telling you that modern teeth get worse and worse, there may be something in this because our tendency is to live more and more on soft foods that require no chewing, or at least very little, which quite counterbalances our care in going regularly to a good dentist. Let me give you a good, practical suggestion today as to how to harden your gums and keep your teeth healthy and white, and to prevent decay. Like most of my suggestions, this costs practically nothing.

Keep a jar or bottle of salt in the bathroom—ordinary table salt, preferably of a variety containing iodine, although this does not really matter. Clean your teeth in the usual way, using any dentifrice you please but never using too stiff a brush. When you've finished, clean your brush and dip it into salt, rub it along the gums, including also the tops of the teeth. Rinse out this salty solution with clear water. This is a marvelous way of hardening the gums and making them healthy, and it is also a good way to check any tendency toward pyorrhea.

There are two other very simple ways to overcome acid mouth and the troubles that result, to prevent tooth decay and stop the growth of tartar on the teeth. If the trouble is a mild one, last thing at night when you have brushed your teeth, rinse around your teeth with a teaspoonful of salt of soda and then swallow it. This not only purifies the mouth but also neutralizes acid in the stomach. The other way is to dip your wet toothbrush in bicarbonate of soda and rub all round the necks of the teeth with this, trying to get into the alveolar wall between the teeth. This strong alkaline gets rid of the acid that starts decay between the teeth.

I can accurately predict that if you really follow these directions you will have your dentist bill. W. S.—It is natural that some hair drops out in the fall of the year, and there should be a little of it going on all the time. The only time to be alarmed is when there is a great deal of thinning going on continually. When this happens, start building up the tone of the scalp by massaging it with cod liver oil and the blood circulating freely through it, aiming at the time to loosen it from the bones of the head. A good tonic may be used every other day, one that is astringent, as that will help to prevent any unnecessary loss of hair. If there is an increase of the trouble directly after the massage, it only means that loose or dead hairs have been dislodged that would have been lost later. New hair will be coming in to take the place of these hairs, so the sooner they have been shed, the better for the whole condition.

M. G.—There is no reason why the bleach should not affect the hair on the top of your head as it does that in the back. Apply it evenly while you hold your head in such a way that it does not run away from the top of the head. Another way might be to wet the hair all over and cover the head with a rubber cap until the bleach has been effective. If your friend when she made such a success of your hair, you will likely have the same satisfactory results.

J. L.—The blotches that come and go on your face are the result of digestive disturbances. Clear the system and be careful of your diet at such times. Tiny broken veins under the skin are not serious, and they are not affected by exercise. As an exercise for the legs go through the movements of riding a bicycle; for the arms, raise them overhead, clasp hands and stretch. (Tomorrow—tune development).

PRELIMINARY TAX REVISION PROGRAM IS RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—A preliminary tax revision program estimated to yield $237,000,000 a year was recommended today by a house ways and means sub-committee.

The report, calling for wide changes in tax rates, was submitted to the full committee. Additional recommendations are expected later. Hearings by the full committee on the proposals are expected to begin shortly.

The preliminary report proposes increased surtax rates, a normal rate of four per cent on all income instead of the present four per cent on the first four thousand dollars; and many other changes including heavy taxes on the exchanges and holding companies, which the report termed a "scheme of the incorporated pocketbooks."

Changes in the normal and surtax rates and in credits against net income, $35,000,000; changes in depreciation and depletion allowances $85,000,000; capital gain and loss changes $30,000,000; personal holding company taxes, $25,000,000; exchange and holding companies $18,000,000; dividends out of pre-March 1, 1913 earnings, $8,000,000; foreign tax credits $10,000,000; consolidated returns $20,000,000 and partnership losses $7,000,000.

The sub-committee recommended the normal rate of four per cent on all net income and the adjustment of the surtax rate "so that the tax burden on incomes other than dividends and partially tax exempt interests will remain practically unchanged."

The principal advantages of this change were described as simplification, an increased tax on dividends, and higher tax on partially tax exempt interests.

The sub-committee pointed out that under the present law, a single man with a net income from dividends of $50,000 pays a tax of $4,500, while a single man with a $50,000 net income from salary pays $8,750 tax. Under the new proposal, the man with the dividend income would pay $7,500.

Dividends now are subject to an eight per cent exemption from income tax, but under the new proposal they would be given only a four per cent exemption.

The sub-committee reported it considered making all tax exempt incomes taxable, but concluded the only way to do that was through a constitutional amendment.

The surtax brackets were proposed to be reduced from 35 to 27 for purposes of simplification. Compared with the present rates ranging from one per cent on the first $8,000 to $10,000 to 55 per cent on incomes over $100,000, the proposed rates would range from four per cent on $4,000 to $6,000 to 58 per cent on more than $100,000.

Holding Companies. A tax of 35 per cent was proposed on the undistributed adjusted income of personal holding companies, which the sub-committee said was the "most prevalent form of tax avoidance practiced by individuals with large incomes."

To carry out the policy of retaining income from the same source on ordinary incomes, it was proposed to allow the personal exemptions and credits for dependents as an offset against surtax as well as normal tax.

The capital gain and loss provision would not be applicable to stock in trade or property included in the taxpayer's inventory. Among problems passed over for future consideration, the sub-committee listed credits for earned income, officers salaries, liquor taxes, and community property income.

United Gas Has Accepted Rates Rail Commission

AUSTIN, Dec. 7. (AP)—The United Gas Public Service company and its associated companies have accepted the city gate rates prescribed by the Texas Railroad Commission, Lon A. Smith, commission chairman, said today.

The basic rate fixed by the commission is thirty-four cents per 1,000 cubic feet, but will vary downward, depending on the amount of industrial gas sold and the volume of unaccounted for and lost gas. The average overall rate is $2.01 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Smith said that the company in accepting the rate stated it did not believe it was sufficient to insure a proper return on the investment but that it would put the schedule into effect for a reasonable trial period, with the reservation that if the rate failed to yield a fair return it would ask for a reopening of the docket.

The company and its subsidiaries operate extensively in south, southwest, east and central Texas and in the area from Wichita Falls northwest to Wheeler county. Its associated companies are the Houston Gas Company, Southern Gas Utilities, Inc., and the Northern Texas Utilities company.

Smith said company officials had indicated they would undertake mediation with communities that have initiated proceedings for lower consumer gas rates.

ness testified the Couch loan had remained under-collateralized for about six months.

During that period, McCain said, the loan was criticized by the National bank examiner.

He explained that Couch was constantly putting up additional collateral as the market went down.

Pecora placed a letter into the record from an unidentified Chase official to Couch, August 24, 1931, asking him "to put his loan in shape."

McCain said he believed the letter was written by James Bruce, a member of the discount committee of the bank.

"Almost every time at our discount committee meetings in the morning," the letter said, "the loans with a deficiency of margin are brought up."

"Yours has quite a prominent part in the list."

When Charlie was here it used to be referred back to him, but since he has been on his holiday it has been referred to me to ask you if you would not have the same put in shape."

This is naturally embarrassing to me, but the letter does all feel that the loan should be in order, and I am sure you will appreciate the position of the bank in the matter."

Pool Operations Described. Operations of a $10,000,000 pool in Louisiana and Arkansas Railway stock were described by McCain.

McCain said the pool was organized in 1928 to purchase stock in the Louisiana and Arkansas and the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company.

Participants, he said, were Dillon, Read and Company; R. J. Pack, H. C. Couch, Rogers Caldwell, Coverdale and Colpitts, J. A. Moffett and himself.

Each of them, he added, extended shares to some participants.

McCain testified the pool in which Couch, now a director of the bank, was a member, still owes the Chase National Bank, $1,289,000.

The pool borrowed $2,295,000 in 1928, McCain said, from the National Park bank of New York while he was president of that institution.

Taken Over In Merger. This was increased by $500,000 he added, in May, 1929, and the total of $2,795,000 was taken over by Chase in the merger of the two banks in August, 1929.

Pecora cited proceedings before the Interstate Commerce commission, for approval of the merger of the Louisiana and Arkansas and the Louisiana Railway and Navigation company.

The syndicate acquired the stock in the latter from a Mrs. Sarah Edensborn.

Pecora read testimony before the I. C. C. in which Commissioner Woodcock questioned F. M. Swacker, attorney for the Louisiana and Arkansas.

GLASS DECLARES WIGGIN PAYMENTS VIOLATION OF LAW

VIRGINIA SENATOR CLOSELY QUESTIONS CHASE NATIONAL BANK PRESIDENT

By NATHAN ROBERTSON Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Senator Glass (D., Va.) charged today that Chase National Bank president Albert H. Wiggin had violated New York law.

Payment of the annuity was disclosed recently by the Senate Banking committee during its investigation of stock market practices. Soon thereafter, Wiggin wrote the bank to cease payments, saying the action had been criticized.

The Virginia Senator re-entered the inquiry to defend the New banking law which bears his name.

He charged that W. W. Aldrich, president of the Chase National bank, in offering amendments to the Glass measure was proposing to "put the whole banking community in straight-jackets."

Glass asked Aldrich, who was on the stand for questioning about recommendations he made last week for banking reform, whether he was a member of the Chase bank when it voted Wiggin $100,000 a year retirement pay for life.

Aldrich denied the payment was a pension, but said an explanation of the circumstances would require a long time.

"I want to disclose," Glass replied, "that the voting of that $100,000 was in absolute contravention of the law of the State of New York and decisions of the courts."

Aldrich said differences of opinion between him and Wiggin had been of a personal character. It made a situation that could not continue.

He added that a large group of directors felt, however, that in order to get Wiggin's advice he should be at the bank's "absolute call."

It was for that reason, he said, that the retired pay was voted.

"I venture to say it was not a violation of law," Aldrich added.

In view of the recent disclosures before this committee, I suppose the board has modified that view," Glass commented.

Aldrich agreed the board now felt that it had been a "mistake" adding "many things have been brought out here that the board did not know about."

The board should have," Glass retorted.

"It didn't have 36 investigators," Aldrich countered, referring to Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, and his staff.

Atlanta Man Is Charged With Mercy Slaying

ATLANTA, Dec. 7. (AP)—John Stephens, 32, was in jail today charged with the slaying of his aunt, Miss Allie Stephens, by striking her over the head with a heavy potted plant.

County police quoted Stephens as saying he knew his aunt was in great pain and death was only a few hours away because she was ill with cancer.

Stephens, officious said, told them, truck the sick woman and she died an hour later.

Miss Stephens had been employed for 28 years as a stenographer in the offices of the Baptist Home Mission board.

old lady in a tight place and are proceeding to take advantage of her, do you?" Woodcock asked.

"I suppose I can not very well deny the fact," Swacker replied.

Sh. is in a position where she has got to have a lot of cash and she must sell. She wants to sell. She is much more anxious to sell than the syndicate is to buy."

JERUSALEM RIOTS NOT NEW IN OLD CITY'S LONG HISTORY *

Famous Tumult When Mob Tried to Lynch Apostle Paul—Historian Luke Tells Dramatic Story of Riots, Intrigue, Conspiracy, Graft and Roman Protection.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Recent rioting in Jerusalem is news, but it is nothing new. Some observers say that it is the attitude of the city—2700 feet—which makes the inhabitants nervous, irascible, excitable and prone to sudden outbreaks. These persons would partially explain such demonstrations as the modern Arab-Jewish clashes, the triumphal entry and the long line of turbulent outbreaks which have marked the old city's history. Certainly there are curious resemblances between what the cables have of late days been reporting and the famous attempt to lynch the Apostle Paul when he returned to Jerusalem from his adventures and labors in the region that is now Turkey and Greece.

This is a good occasion to study the mob spirit; for we are not doing so well in this respect. It is the part of good sense to consider beforehand these strange outbreaks of popular fury which sometimes make or unmake nations. What protection may a community have against such demonstrations? Police and military force are not enough; as I, who have witnessed revolutions in four nations, can testify.

One rare man keeps his head when his community goes berserk. To be that man should be every good citizen's purpose. This calls for the cultivation of poise, of self-restraint and of a steady mind. Any more may follow a multitude to do evil. It takes a strong character to resist the mob spirit. Rational and resolute personalities are the supreme need of a community in every crisis. They are the hope of civilization.

One Mark of a Man.

Sometimes it is race passion, sometimes it is economic self-interest, sometimes it is religious fanaticism, sometimes it is political partisanship that creates mobs. In the case of Paul in Jerusalem it was deep and calculated religious animosity that stirred up the mob. The mob spirit is the background of the most of our own times. Secular bitterness has raised a hue and cry to lead the public into mob action. Unreason and intolerance, against this spirit, persons will, by careful forethought, give themselves to stand valiantly. One of Kipling's marks of a man was:

You can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs, and blaming it on you.

In Paul's day, it was the Roman authority that stood steady for orderly procedure; as it is the British in Palestine today. Ever on the alert for outbreaks from the mob, the Romans kept guard in the famous place. Even down to our own times secular bitterness has raised a hue and cry to lead the public into mob action. Unreason and intolerance, against this spirit, persons will, by careful forethought, give themselves to stand valiantly. One of Kipling's marks of a man was:

Like Pilate, he has won an immortality of infamy because there once stood before him a hero in Paul. He was a grifter, a crooked politician and a venal judge. His detention of Paul, and his repeated hearings, were really due to his hope for a bribe. For a few years the great apostle was a prisoner of Felix, because of the latter's cupidity. The need for prison reform, acute in our time, is not new.

Hate is a terrible thing. It dominated Paul's ecclesiastical enemies. So when Festus succeeded Felix, he tried to persuade him to have Paul brought up to Jerusalem, meaning to assassinate him on the way. But Festus made the priestly party travel down to Jerusalem for another trial. Still the wily politician, Festus, to please the Jews offered to have still another hearing in Jerusalem; but Paul checked-mated that move by the famous words, "I appeal unto Caesar"—every Roman's highest right.

All this while, the protection of Paul's personality, and the Cause that he embodied, were steadily increasing public interest in him and his Message. When the infamous King Herod Agrippa and his wife went down to Caesarea, Festus produced Paul to speak before the king. Thereupon, in one of the world's most celebrated orations, Paul again made his defense, which really was a presentation of the Gospel, that shook even the stolid Romans, Festus and King Agrippa.

His peroration holds the heart of the Lesson. Addressing Agrippa he said: "I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this way, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds."
